

a spread quilt, silken, shadows lengthen, resolve into shape. I am lying here casting around the remains of the day, their impressions of form, shapes gathered in tiny entrails of leaves teased by the wind, cast on the pavement, the playgrounds, the sleeplessness of being